

About

What's up. My name is Bert. I am a dedicated father and husband, and am big on technology.

My trade is in information technology, with a specialty in Systems Administration and Automation. I absolutely love DevOps (Development + Operations) and am an avid proponent of automation in languages such as PowerShell, Python, Bash, and Ruby. I also enjoy working with infrastructure orchestration and platform tools such as Puppet, Vagrant, Kubernetes, and Docker. But wait, there's more: I'm all about that Jenkins for Continuous Integration, and I love love love all things Atlassian (JIRA, Confluence, etc).

My service area is the Lehigh Valley in Central PA, so if you seek expertise in Systems Administration & Automation, I'm your guy.

Enjoy my blog!
